

following particulars: When the Cherokees were returning home from the late treaty at Augusta, a party of them encamped on the north side of Broad-River, two of them the next morning, without their guns or march coats, and went to the house of one John Collins, who, at that time was from home. His son Hezekiah Collins, received them seemingly in a friendly manner, and ordered a woman in the house to set victuals before them, which being done, the Indians having begun to eat, the said Collins, without the least provocation given, took the opportunity of shooting them both at one shot. Not long after the father came home, who assisted his son in conveying them together by the necks with a rope, and a large stone at the end thereof, they sunk them. Their companions, after waiting for them a considerable time, set off for Togoloo: They waited at home about three days with great impatience, however expediting their friends, when they began to be very uneasy, and to threaten vengeance. An Indian woman informed the white masters what was meditated, and when they had the good fortune to find them, they were in the night. Mr. Cameron, Deputy Superintendent of Indian Affairs, has dispatched messengers to the Indians, informing them that every Indian shall be taken to apprehend the murderer, and that he, on conviction, shall be punished to death. The father is apprehended, and Mr. Cameron has offered a reward of one hundred pounds for apprehending the son, and several parties are sent out for him. The people in the back settlements are much alarmed, while at the same time many applaud Collins's action. The warriors and headmen of the lower towns have informed the messengers, that they will allow a reasonable time for apprehending the murderer, but that they expect justice to be done agreeable to treaty. The Cherokees look on this murder as particularly abhorrent to them, as it was committed in lands built on lands which belonged to them immediately before the present cession.

The Robbery of one Ducharm, on the River Mississippi, as mentioned in our last, was not committed by the Spaniards, but by the Six following Englishmen, viz. Joseph Howard, Amos Hooper, Charles Holmes, Reuben Young, Richard Hollaway, and Abolam Hooper. They not only were guilty of the Robbery, but afterwards murdered poor Ducharm; for which Crime the Three first are in Confinement, in a Spanish Goal, having confessed their guilt; and the Three latter it was expect-

HENRY WHITEMAN,

AT the sign of the British Empire, in the neighbourhood, of the Mills of Bedford, we shall desire, to give the Valley of a more English Soil, founded on good and sound Principals.

These Considerations, and the encouragement of my Friends, induce me to offer for your Approval the following.

AN ENGLISH GRAMMAR SCHOOL, which will be opened on the 1st of next Month.

In the first Class, will be arranged, the Children who have been but imperfectly taught to read;

with whom the named Code shall be given, to correct all ill Habits in reading, and to form a full Franseation.

In the next Class, the Scholar shall be initiated in grammatical Lightness; and then firmly fixed on the Mind by frequent Proficiency of the most approved Lessons.

The Third, will introduce the Scholar to an Acquaintance with the Syntax, and Ellipsis; each of which shall be illustrated in a Course of reading, such Books as may engage the young Attention, and have a moral Tendency.

After Proficiency in

History of the World, History of England,

Introduction to polite Learning,

and General's Morals.

After Proficiency in

History of the World, History of England,

Introduction to polite Learning,

and General's Morals.

In this Class, the Scholar will be frequently exercised in the Declension of irregular and defective

Verbs; and the exercises of Parsing will be continued.

The fourth Class, will be formed out of those

Scholars who being most perfect in their grammatical

Exercises, are ready to be instructed in a proper and elegant Method of reading PROSE.

The Books used in this Course, will be chiefly

History of the World, History of England,

Introduction to polite Learning,

and General's Morals.

In the fifth Class, the Scholar shall be initiated in the Proprieties and Beauties of reading POETRY, exemplified in the Works of THOMPSON,

GRAY, YOUNG, POPE, and MILTON.

The Scholars of the fourth and fifth Classes, will be occasionally instructed in the Art of familiar Letter Writing.

I shall likewise endeavour to instruct those who require it, in Writing and the Elements of Arithmetic, till an Assistant can be procured for that Branch, which shall be done as soon as may be.

RULES.

To preserve the utmost Decorum among the Scholars, proper Rules for the Conduct of each, during the Hours of teaching, shall be put up in the School-Room.

On the Model of Mr. LOCKE, a new Mode of Reparation for Irregularities, and a loitering Study, will be adopted. The several Methods at present taken in most Schools, to punish Children for their Faults, is disagreeable; and oftener attended with bad than good Consequences. It shall be my Care, rather to reason or shame them out of their Faults, by affectionate Arguments with them; or, in the Extremity, a public Discourse among their Fellows.

T E R M S.

That I may do Justice to each, I do not intend to take more than Thirty Scholars at a Pistole a Quarter.

Half a Pistole at Entrance; and Half a Pistole more towards a Fund for providing Books for the Use of the School.

The Indulgence of the Public to this Plan, shall meet the utmost Care and Diligence on the Part of its devoted Servant.

THOMAS BYERLEY.

Doctor G R A H A M, O C U L I S T and A U R I S T,

TAKES this method of apologising to several of the respectable inhabitants of this city, who having applied to him for assistance in disorders of their EYES and EARS, have not as yet been attended to.

The great number of pleasurable objects, blind, deaf, &c. who come daily for relief from all parts of the colony, has hitherto prevented him from complying with what he hath ever considered, not as his interest only,

but as a duty, in the exercise of which he frequently experiences the most exalted pleasure that the human mind is perhaps capable of enjoying.

NEW-JERSEY. Moonsup—

BY Order of the Ho-

Debtor, That they be together at the Court-House,

FRENCH BOARDING-SCHOOL
THE REV. J. PETER TETARD.

THE REV. J. PETE TETARD, Late Minister of the Reformed French Church in this City,

RETURNS his grateful Thanks to the Public for the Encouragement given to the Boarding School he opened last Summer, at his House near King's-Bridge, (within 3 Miles from New-York) where he continues to teach the French Language in the most expeditious Manner, together with some of the most useful Sciences such as Geography, the Doctrine of the Sphere, an ancient and modern History, Logic, &c. — He likewise takes in Pupils for the learned Languages; the skillful reading of the Classics, and whatever is requisite to fit the young Students for Admission into any College or University.

The House is remarkable for its healthy situation, commanding one of the finest Prospects in the Government; and the Tutor's Character and Capacity are well-known, he having lived with Credit in the City of New-York for fifteen Years; so that, Gentlemen who will entrust him with the Education of their Children, may depend on their Expectations being properly answered.

THE infinite wise author of nature, has assigned to the eyes and ears, the most useful and important offices of life: The structure of those delicately tender organs is so exquisitely minute, the mechanism and properties of their various parts admirably curious, that they may be styled with propriety, the miracles of nature! The great variety of dangers and diseases, manifest and occult to which those precious senses are exposed; the little attention that hitherto has been paid to the improvement of this noble science; and so few properly qualified, have engaged in its practice, that properly qualified, have engaged in his practice, that to study them in any degree suitable to their importance, is full business for life.

THE inestimable blessing, and great advantage which attend a perfect enjoyment of the sight and hearing, are obvious to all; but the deplorable and truly pitiable condition of the blind and deaf is attended with such solitary discomfort, such gloomy ideas, and constant uneasiness of mind, that no one can be truly sensible of who has not in some measure experienced it himself. How noble therefore, how deserving of the nicest cultivation must that art be, that can restore sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, speech to the dumb, and keep in order the springs of those master-pieces of creative wisdom? That art must needs be divine, because thus assisted, the wonders of nature, and of art, opening on the mind, expand it with the most exalted apprehensions of the GREAT ARTIST.

2862 Blanks; Subject to a deduction of 15 per cent. from the

The above lottery to be drawn the second day of August next, under the inspection of Messrs
William Edgar, John Adams, Matthias Baker, Joseph Willis, Lewis Brant, John Wood, John Oliver, jun. and Amos Morris, jun. who are appointed managers.

It is with great reluctance the above lottery is set on foot; but among the many of the same kind offered to the publick, there are none, it is presumed, claim indulgence more than the above. The weak state of the society, it is hoped will apologize for a method to raise money, which urgent necessity only can plead for.

A few tickets still unfold, may be had by leaving a line directed to the managers.
